Whether you own or rent, if your home or apartment was destroyed or sustained major damage you can call the American Red Cross to complete an application for immediate financial assistance. Major damage is indicated by a dwelling that is not currently habitable due to a substantial failure of structural elements such as floors, walls, foundation, or roof.

A destroyed residence is one that is uninhabitable due to the total loss of the structure or complete failure to major structural components and which cannot be made habitable without extensive repairs.

WE WANT TO HEAR FROM YOU!
